

Learn Libre

Production Credits – How Do Compasses Work?

Written by Dana Stitt

Images, footage, and graphics used under license from Canva.com

Images and footage used under license from Getty Images

Images generated with the assistance of AI

Music and sound effects used under license from Pond5.com

Music and sound effects used under license from Pixabay.com

A rare large carved and painted wood figure of a horse, Han dynasty (206 BC-AD 220)

© Christie's Images Ltd 2011

Image of Kuan Ti - God of War. World History Encyclopedia. Accessed 2024

<https://www.worldhistory.org/image/4024/kuan-ti---god-of-war/>

Image of Lion Sculpture. The Metropolitan Museum of Art. Accessed 2024

<https://www.metmuseum.org/art/collection/search/696831>

Model of a Han dynasty (206 BC–220 AD) south-indicating ladle or sinan made of magnetized lodestones. Accessed 2024. License: CC BY-SA 3.0.

Learn Libre respects the intellectual property rights of digital content owners. We strive to use images and videos fairly and appropriately. If you own content that you believe we might be using improperly, please reach out to us at info@learnlibre.com.

We'll respond quickly and address any concerns.